

Adam Lester

Global Head of Corporate Strategy
Cambridge Associates

Adam is the Global Head of Strategy for Cambridge Associates, the global investment firm, and a member of Cambridge's Leadership Team. He helps the CEO and Leadership Team define the strategic direction of the business and execute against major strategic initiatives. Previously Adam led Strategy in the Americas for J.P. Morgan Asset Management, and prior to J.P. Morgan he was a consultant at McKinsey & Company, where his clients were primarily financial services companies and law firms. Adam started his career at Lehman Brothers where he helped launch a business responsible for Lehman's 3rd party private equity investing.