

David Johnson

IBM

An experienced information technology manager who leads a team of 19 at IBM who work in remote setting around the world. David in his professional and personal capacities believes in helping others, preventing cruelty of any kind and seeks to use technology to solve business problems. We are excited that David has joined CLC and will use his skills and talents to support our mission.